VA Pensions Increase For Vets & Widows

Veterans and widows drawing VA pensions who are residing in nursing homes are not aware that increased pension may be available.

The aid and attendance allowance for both groups of these recipients will be forthcoming if application is made to the Veterans Administration and supported by evidence that the pensioners are in need of help of other people in their daily living.

Aid and attendance benefits for veterans under the new law will be $100.00 in addition to their monthly pensions. Those under the old pension law will be increased to a $135.45 monthly rate. Widows will receive $50.00 more per month, in additon to their regular pension.

Application for aid and attendance for a widow may be made by furnishing the Veterans Administration with a statement from the administrator of the nursing home. This statement must show the date of admission, and must indicate that nursing home care is required. For veterans it is necessary to provide the Veterans administration with a medical statement from a doctor, showing need for the regular aid and attendance of another person. The medical statement may be made on the private doctor's own letterhead stationery.

Beside him (at left) is his sister Donna and his cousin, Vivan Seay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Seay, looking over Steve's notebook and the camp newspaper.

Writes About Snakes 'n Things

Steve Cawthorne, a rising 7th grader at Appomattox Intermediate School, has always been interested in science, and this year his interest was rewarded with a scholarship to Nature Camp at Vesuvius, Va. The camp is sponsored in part by garden clubs, including the Garden Club of Appomattox, which sent Steve for an exciting two weeks stay, July 19-August 1.

Steve kept a day-by-day account of camping adventures including finding a snake, watching the stars and all sorts of discoveries in the out-of-doors. From his counselors he received comments in the notebook like "Wow!", "Great!" and "Go out and spread the Nature Camp spirit."

Steve was recommended for the camping stay by his science teacher, Mrs. Wesley Martin. Mrs. Roy A. Moon and Mrs. Reid Shields, members of the Garden Club, helped make arrangements and assisted with the selection of a camper. Mrs. S. B. Waddell is president of the club.

Steve will be speaking to the August meeting of the Garden Club. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cawthorne, Rt. 2.
